

What Moves Us: UU History and Personal Exploration

As Unitarian Universalists, personal experience is a major source of our religious feelings, beliefs, and practices. In a JRUUC adult workshop series this year, we'll draw on Unitarian Universalist history to explore our personal theologies and the experiences that move us.

The program will draw on the life experiences of ten Unitarian and Universalists, past and present, that brought them a change of heart, hope, or direction:

- George de Benneville, boundless love
- Charles Chauncy, the place of reason
- Hosea Ballou, reading scripture for himself
- William Ellery Channing, human nature as divine
- Margaret Fuller, human rights for all people
- Sophia Lyon Fahs, the role of emotional impulses
- James Luther Adams, actions more than words
- Forrest Church, liberating awe
- William F. Schulz, organic faith to stay the course
- Thandeka, networks of care and compassion

What Moves Us will meet on Zoom the second Sunday evening of each month, September through June, from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. Interested? Please email WhatMovesUs@JRUUC.org with your name and contact information to sign up and/or to raise any questions or concerns. If you're interested but can't attend second Sundays, please let us know what would work for you, in case there's enough demand for another section.
